Family Dollar manager

shot while making deposit

By Brenda Bunting
SUN Editor

Family Dollar Store Manager Raymond McCarthy, 60, is in critical, but stable condition today after he was shot in the stomach Friday evening while making a night deposit at Bank of Pahokee in Pahokee.

McCarthy, of 1167 Santiago Street in Royal Palm Beach, was shot about 9:30 p.m. May 7 while making the night deposit at the bank located at 104 South Lake Avenue in Pahokee. He is being treated at St. Mary's Hospital in West Palm Beach.

According to Lt. Danny Jones with the Pahokee Police Department, Mr. McCarthy said he was making the deposit when a black man approached him from behind and demanded he give him the money in his bag. McCarthy told Lt. Jones he turned around and the man shot him one time with a small-caliber handgun in the stomach.

The man then ran away without taking the money. He is described as being thin, around six feet tall and between 16 and 30 years old. The Bank of Pahokee is offering a $1,000 reward for information leading to the arrest of the suspect.

Theft of cable TV now a felony - yielding jail, fines

Cablevision Industries, Inc. (CVI), provider of cable television service to area communities, applauded today two recent federal indictments involving the theft of cable television service. Douglas Kelly, General Manager for CVI, said "The stiff penalties assessed in both of these cases indicated the seriousness of the crime of cable piracy."

In the first case, a federal grand jury in Detroit, Michigan indicted Kenneth W. Murdoch and Bonita L. Paxton of 13 counts of selling illegal cable and satellite descramblers. Murdoch faces 45 years and $2.5 million in fines, while Paxton could receive 5 years and $250,000 in fines. The investigation was conducted by the Federal Bureau of Investigation in cooperation with other federal agencies.

In a similar case in Camden, New Jersey, Peter Greenwood was sentenced by a U.S. District Court to 12 months in prison and was ordered to reimburse the U.S. Government and Jerrold Communications for investigative costs. Greenwood sold cable descramblers in New Jersey and Philadelphia.

Industry estimates put lost revenues for theft of cable service in 1991 at $4.7 billion, an amount equivalent to around 25 percent of total industry revenues.

Lost revenues affect franchise fees paid to most cities and counties, which are actually calculated as a percentage of revenues. The 1992 Cable Act upgraded the penalties for assisting in the unauthorized reception of cable service from a misdemeanor to a felony offense.

CVI has for years had a strong anti-theft department committed to fighting the theft of cable service, according to Kelly.

Kelly also said "Ultimately it is the honest paying subscriber who ends up paying for the dishonest theft of cable service through upward pressure on cable rates. This is a problem shared by the consumer, which the consumer should be aware of."

Winn Dixie to close store on 715

Winn Dixie will close its store on 16th Street, (SR 715) Belle Glade as of June 16, according to D. Terry Walsh, Marketing Director for the company.

"We've been closing all of our older, out-of-date stores," he said.

The newer Winn Dixie store on South Main Street will remain open, according to Mr. Walsh, and he hopes to be able to offer jobs to all the employees currently working at the older Winn Dixie store.

Although the store on 16th Street, located in the Glades Shopping Plaza, attracted a large number of customers, Mr. Walsh said he doesn't believe Winn Dixie will lose customers due to the closing "because of our every day low prices."

The newer Winn Dixie on South Main Street has 36,000 square feet of space.

A Belle Glade woman died when the truck she was riding in hit a corn truck on Airport Road last Thursday morning. The driver, Martin Cerna, received head injuries and was taken to Glades General Hospital and released. The driver of the corn truck was not injured in the accident.

U.S. Sugar paid better wages to cane cutters this season

Labor Peace at U.S. Sugar Corporation during the recently completed sugar cane harvest season was declared an "unqualified success" by Company officials and Florida's top labor advocate organization.

"Workers earned more money than ever before and labor relations were the best in the industry," said Rob Williams, attorney for Florida Rural Legal Services. "We are very happy that the agreement put into place between U.S. Sugar and farmworker advocate organizations last year has achieved everything we hoped it would do. Both the company and the workers have benefited from our excellent relationship."

Sugar cane cutters at U.S. Sugar received an increase in average earnings this season as a result of a new pay plan which was part of the Labor Peace announced in September 1992 between the company and Florida Rural Legal Services and the Farmworker Justice Fund. The agreement also provided a framework for solving labor disputes and, hopefully, preventing future lawsuits.

The average cane cutter earned about $48 per day, up from approximately $42 per day the previous harvest season. Average hourly earnings were $7.24 for the season compared with $6.54 last season. Officials say workers seemed pleased with the system, as worker efficiency also increased this season, resulting in a positive result for both workers and the company.

The 2,100 primarily Jamaican farm workers come to U.S. Sugar for five months.

Belle Glade woman dies in accident

Aurora Maldonado, 26, of 1612 N.W. 11th Street Belle Glade died Thursday morning when the truck she was riding in was hit by a corn truck on Airport Road.

Martin Cerna, 27, was driving a 1988 Ford pickup when he turned in front of a corn truck driven by Glover Lee Williams, according to a Florida Highway Patrol report.

Williams, 30, of 388 J. Malone Drive, Pahokee was not injured in the accident. Cerna was treated at Glades General Hospital for facial cuts and bruises and released.

Cerna was driving east on Airport Road when he went to make a left turn onto Hatton Highway. Williams' 1978 long-bed Ford truck was loaded with corn. His corn truck hit Williams' truck on the passenger side, killing Maldonado. A third vehicle suffered some damage when a tire from Cerna's truck came off, hitting the other car.

MIGRAINE

Also called sick headaches, a typical migraine attack begins with a dull throbbing ache in one area of the head and progresses to a piercing pain. These tortuous attacks may be preceded by a change in the field of vision - a flickering before the eyes, flashes of light or a partial blocking of the vision. They are sometimes accompanied by nausea or vomiting. They are seldom relieved by aspirin. Their duration is from 2 to 48 hours.

Cane cutters

each year to help harvest the sugar cane crop under the H-2A Farmworker Program. In addition, more than 100 U.S. residents cut cane for U.S. Sugar this season. Cane cutters are now paid by the ton of sugar cane they cut averaged by field and crew, a new pay system recommended and endorsed by farmworker advocate groups.

Additionally, the Federal government requires that workers receive a minimum wage guarantee of $5.91 per hour. Top cutters at U.S. Sugar this year earned more than $11 per hour. Additionally, all H-2A workers receive free housing and transportation and three meals a day at a subsidized cost.

Officers deserve recognition

I noticed on the front page of last week's SUN newspaper that a local church is going to honor our local police officers. I think that's great.

How many of us would like their job? Not me. Especially considering the amount of crime and lack of respect officers get today.

I can remember as a child believing police officers were just one step down from God himself. Parents today don't seem to teach their children to like and respect authority like my parents did. Instead, you hear parents tell their children "You either behave or I'll get that officer over there to put you in jail." I've really heard parents say this to their children.

So, I just wanted to say I think it's great that a group of people will be showing their appreciation to police officers, many who lay their life on the line for us every day.

And, by the way, my husband is not a policeman.

Tax list

After scanning the list of delinquent property taxes owed, I was surprised to see the names of many of our "supposedly" leading citizens.

How embarrassing...and such a waste of newspaper.

Why can't these people understand, taxes are like death...very certain.

Thank you.

Hurricane season

With hurricane season starting in just a couple of weeks, I have been listening to the predictions of the possibility of three major hurricanes this year.

While we were lucky that Hurricane Andrew did not hit our area, I worry that we will not be so lucky this year.

I've also noticed that many of the major insurers are canceling policies after all the losses of Hurricane Andrew. I just hope the predictions are wrong and we don't get a major hurricane. I'm worried now more than ever before.

I also think that it's unfair that insurance carriers should be allowed to cancel policies. They had many years without claims and reaped the benefits, now they want to cry broke when one storm hits and costs them money. What did they expect? That's sometimes the cost of doing business.

Letters to the editor

Good news for criminals, bad news for citizens

Dear Editor:

The Governor's veto of the Legislature's plan to build more than 7,000 new prison beds is good news for criminals but bad news for the people of Florida. It is an insult to everyone in the Legislature who worked so hard to make the commitment to building prisons and it should outrage every Floridian.

The prison debate currently being waged by Lawton Chiles is long on hyperbole and short on facts. Governor Chiles, in yet another effort to raise taxes, has seized on the politics of fear to bolster his desire to boost the state treasury.

First, let us set the record straight: all of us, Republicans and Democrats alike, want safe streets. We all want convicted criminals to serve all of their sentences. We all want to protect our families, friends and loved ones from becoming the victims of crime. But the Governor's plan is not the answer. The Governor's plan addresses overcrowding by putting fewer criminals behind bars to begin with. The Governor's plan asks for only 21,000 beds when at least 35,000 are needed. The Governor's plan relies on a cigarette tax that asks a select few to pay for a basic function of state government which benefits all of us.

The facts are simple. During his gubernatorial campaign Chiles criticized his predecessor for building too many prison beds. During his first year in office Chiles asked for no new prison beds. During his second year he asked for no new prison beds in his "reality budget." (Although his "investment budget" asked for new beds, it was based on a $2.5 billion tax increase).

In fact, since Governor Chiles took office, only 183 prison beds have been built. This year Governor Chiles requested funding for only 4,800 new prison beds but the Legislature gave him the tools to begin work on more than 7,000. The Legislature's plan anticipates building 35,000 beds over the next five years - 14,000 more than the Governor thinks we need.

The Governor's recent tactics are simply intended to heighten the sense of fear among our citizens to force the Legislature to raise taxes. He tried these same tactics last year with his "reality budget", but this year his efforts are more dangerous.

This year the Governor's efforts to raise taxes could mean a delay in constructing over 7,000 sorely needed prison beds that were budgeted by the Legislature. Clearly the Governor does not have the answer to Florida's crime problem.

The answer to Florida's crime problem will not be found in a media strategy built on fear. The answer to the problem of crime on our streets and in our homes and businesses is a real commitment to public safety, making prisons one of our top budget priorities and showing the leadership and courage to make hard choices. The answer to get to work on the 7,000 bed prison-building plan passed by the Legislature. Unfortunately, by his veto, it is apparent that the Governor does not recognize these answers.

If the Governor simply wants to raise taxes he should abandon his scare tactics and just say so. If the Governor had a real commitment to building prisons, he would have signed the budget and begun work on building new prisons.

Very truly yours,
Ander Crenshaw
Senate President

Lewis doubts NAFTA's future

"Ambassador Kantor assured us it is alive and kicking, but the evidence shows it to be dying a slow death."

In addition to the impact of estimated implementation costs of $2 to $12 billion, momentum in support of NAFTA has slowly been eroding on Capitol Hill and within the Administration.

"Should the vote occur in Congress today on the agreement, I am confident it would be defeated," said Lewis. "While we have been considering the potential effects of NAFTA, it is apparent that Florida has been left out of that picture."

Congressman Tom Lewis (R-FL) called a meeting with U.S. Trade Ambassador Mickey Kantor and the Florida Congressional delegation met recently for an update on the current status of the North American Free Trade Agreement.

"Recent reports from the Administration indicate that the NAFTA is dead," said Congressman Lewis.

Under Lewis' direction, the Florida's Congressional delegation has persisted in pressing the U.S. Trade Representative to adopt the concerns of Florida's $6.3 billion agriculture industry in the supplemental agreements which are currently being negotiated.

"Despite past assurances that these concerns had been placed on the negotiating table, it appears that has been lip service to garner support of NAFTA," said Lewis. "To date, these issues have not been addressed."

The Florida delegation had hoped to obtain necessary changes to the NAFTA on price based safeguard mechanism for sensitive agricultural trade.

In addition, environmental and health safety issues continue to be a major point of contention in the current agreement.

The Delegation has insisted that Mexico's environmental protection practices must be harmonized with U.S. standards within the current negotiations.

Fourteen members of Florida's House delegation participated in the meeting along with both U.S. Senators.

Ask Dr. Bolton

Dr. David Bolton is the associate director of the Western Palm Beach County Mental Health Clinic in Belle Glade, and is a licensed psychologist in private practice in Lake Worth.

Dear Dr. Bolton,

My best friend just had her son die. She was very close to him and he died in a bad way. She just hasn't been the same since. I am really worried about her. She doesn't talk much anymore, and she used to be really lively. I am even worried she might even try to hurt herself, but I don't know if this is true. How can I help her? Is this normal? What can I do?

TC

Dear TC:

Most folks become uncomfortable with the topic of death. If someone you are close to dies, it can bother you for years afterwards. Memories will always be there.

If a friend of yours experiences a death, it is hard to know how to help. Mostly, losing a loved one is a great pain that you experience in a deep and lonely way inside, and someone else cannot make that pain go away.

You can, however be a source of support to your friend. Just being with her is a good way of letting her know you care.

You cannot make her pain vanish, but you can show her you understand what she is going through. There are those who claim that losing a child is the most hurtful pain that a person can experience. If you are worried about her own health or state of mind you can let her know that, but don't indicate that she shouldn't feel pain over her son.

People are not usually suicidal over the loss of a loved one. Danger signs to be aware of that might indicate suicidal tendencies are feelings of hopelessness, feeling she has no future, blaming herself for her son's death, or her saying or feeling that she would be better off dead.

If you do think that she might be suicidal, you should call a mental health professional, and encourage her to go for a visit. Generally, you can help by reminding her that there are people on this earth right now who care about her and who need her to remain in good health.

People respond to death in many different ways. Some people become angry, most get pretty sad, some act as if the death never happened, some try to make a deal with God where they loved one back, but most eventually come to accept that their loved one is gone. Folks can deal with death through the support of friends, through God, through a counselor, through the passage of time, or with any combination of these ways. When the death of a loved one is finally accepted, it leaves a person with both sad and happy memories.

If you would like to anonymously inquire about issues regarding yourself or your acquaintances, you may do so by writing to Dr. Bolton. You don't even have to give your name or address. Just mail all questions to:

Raider Log

By Beth Buchanan

Honor Roll

Last week's Log did not publish All A's honor roll from the third nine weeks. Related congratulations to these superior students:

Freshman Dahlia Forde and Susay Hutchinson
Sophomores Sharika Brown, Vanisha Brown and Rosemarie Davis
Juniors Mirna Alipizar, Samer Halum, Sharon Ricketts and Mohammad Yareb
Seniors Heather Frazier and Faissal Muslet

Poster Contest Winners

Jeanette Malone won second place and a $50 prize in the Lay Day USA poster contest recently. She and her graphic arts teacher Mr. Marc Scultz, attended an awards luncheon at the Omni Hotel last Friday.

Spring Football

Many young men, 83 in all, are now practicing spring football and hoping to be permanent members of the Mighty Raider squad in the fall. Coach Rick Casco, with many assistants, supervises practice.

The traditional Marion and Gold game is scheduled for the evening of May 21. The "official" jamboree held at Wellington on May 28th when the Raiders will play Palm Beach Lakes.

Field Day

Students are looking forward to the field day, the afternoon of the 21st. The GCCHS student council has been working hard to organize the event. Each of the four classes will have teams in many cases, from the egg toss and apple bobbing to volleyball and softball.

The student council, with the faculty and staff's help, hope this field day will be one of the greatest.

Prom and Grad Night

Tomorrow night, May 14th, the Junior Class is presenting its prom for the seniors. The prom theme is "Black Tie Affair" and festivities begin at 8 o'clock.

The next evening, the seniors take off for the traditional

Grad Night fun at Walt Disney World. The seniors, particularly, may seem extra tired come Monday morning.

State Champs Again

The Lady Raider track team did it again, winning the Class 2A state title for the second year in a row. The team scored 86 1/2 points, outdoing last year's state mark of 79 1/2.

The second place team, Miami Curley, scored only 26 points. Anjeanette Gilbert broke her own record in the triple jump. Anjeanette also ran in the winning 4*400 meter relay team which included Shundra and Tameka Butler. Smith also took second place in the long jump and the meter hurdles.

The boys' team came close to making it a double, but finished second behind Bishop Kenny with 42 points to their 55. Nevertheless, all the coaches were very pleased with the Raiders' performances. Next comes the state heptathlon in two week. Congratulations and good luck in that meet too.

Gator Tales

It's the annual "Clash of the Classes" this Friday, May 14 when students in grades 7-12 will compete in Glades Day School's Field Day, sponsored by the Student Council.

Activities will kick off early in the morning with the lip sync contest, with students performing their favorite song for judges. Afterwards, the classes will split up and head for the volleyball, basketball and softball courts, where classes will go head-to-head with each other (7th vs. 8th, 9th vs. 10th and 11th vs. 12th). Next will come the Class Challenge and the Obstacle Course. The grade with the most points at the end will be declared the winners. There's sure to be heated friendly rivalry!

The Student Council will celebrate the end of the Field Day with a "Mad-Hatter's Ball" for grades 9-12 from 7 p.m. until midnight Friday. Students are encouraged to create a hat to wear to the dance.

GDS congratulations to the winners of the elementary's Little Mr. & Miss pageant held, May 8. Second graders Justin Longoria and Robyn Hairston were crowned Little Mr. and Miss GDS, while John Presley Chalk (K-3) and Amy Hooker (K-4) won the Tiny Mr. and Miss title.

Students in K3, K4 and K5 enjoyed a morning of playing when they took a field trip to Castle Park in Clewiston last week. The little ones scampered up, down and around the new park's playground equipment before settling down for lunch and the return trip to school. Who was more exhausted, the kids or the adults?
